

LAS VEGAS SCAVENGER HUNT

	This restaurant serves an ice cream sundae priced at $1000.
	It's no secret that this garden is a fun place to watch dolphins play.
	Love is in the air here – 460 feet off the ground!
	You would have to be really thirsty to finish this huge bottle of pop.
	To enter this hotel, you used to walk under a massive lion (some called it “walking through a lion’s mouth”). That entrance was changed in 1998.
	No, you’re not seeing things – these statues actually move!
	They’re cute, they’re pink, they stand on one leg and you’ll find them in this habitat.
	Here you can get up close and personal with some of the world’s most famous stars!
	These melt in your mouth, not in your hand, and at this location you will see some that are taller than you!
	Here you can walk through tunnels a get a diver’s view of the underground world.
	This statue is approximately half the size of the famous one you’ll find in New York.
	Unscramble this hotel name and then take a picture in front of it: ABLOGLIE
	This Lake of Dreams has a 40-foot waterfall and has been known to showcase a giant singing frog
	Here you can travel down the Grand Canal in a gondola.
	At night, you’ll see a huge spotlight shining out of the top tip of this hotel.

HOW TO PLAY: Using your best detective skills, figure out what place each clue is referring to. Travel over to that place and take a picture of your entire team in it. You don't have to actually go inside every attraction, just take a picture of your team outside of the location. Set a time for all teams to meet back at a certain location to look through the photos and share stories of your adventures!

ANSWERS LAS VEGAS SCAVENGER HUNT

	This restaurant serves an ice cream sundae priced at $1000. Serendipity 3 at Caesars Palace
	It's no secret that this garden is a fun place to watch dolphins play. The Secret Garden & Dolphin Habitat at The Mirage
	Love is in the air here – 460 feet off the ground! The Eiffel Tower at the Paris Las Vegas Hotel
	You would have to be really thirsty to finish this huge bottle of pop. Large bottle outside the Coca-Cola Store
	To enter this hotel, you used to walk under a massive lion (some called it “walking through a lion’s mouth”). That entrance was changed in 1998. The MGM Grand
	No, you’re not seeing things – these statues actually move! The Moving Statues Show in Caesars Palace
	They’re cute, they’re pink, they stand on one leg and you’ll find them in this habitat. Flamingo Wildlife Habitat in the Flamingo
	Here you can get up close and personal with some of the world’s most famous stars! Madame Tussauds Las Vegas
	These melt in your mouth, not in your hand, and at this location you will see some that are taller than you! M&M’S World
	Here you can walk through tunnels a get a diver’s view of the underground world. Shark Reef Aquarium at Mandalay Bay
	This statue is approximately half the size of the famous one you’ll find in New York. Statue of Liberty at New York-New York Hotel & Casino
	Unscramble this hotel name and then take a picture in front of it: ABLOGLIE Bellagio
	This Lake of Dreams has a 40-foot waterfall and has been known to showcase a giant singing frog Inside Wynn Las Vegas
	Here you can travel down the Grand Canal in a gondola. The Venetian
	At night, you’ll see a huge spotlight shining out of the top tip of this hotel. Luxor